

TEACHERS AND SCHOOL OFFICERS
OF Kosciusko County, Indiana
1924-1925

The dignity of the vocation of a teacher is beginning to be understood. The idea is dawning upon us that no office can compare in solemnity and importance with that of training the child; that skill to form the young to energy, truth and virtue is worth more than the knowledge of all other arts and sciences; and that the encouragement of excellent teachers is the first duty which a community owes to itself. I say the truth is dawning and must make its way—the whole worth of a school lies in the teacher. You may accumulate the most expensive apparatus for instruction, but without an intellectual, gifted teacher it is little better than rubbish, and such a teacher without apparatus may effect the happiest results.
