JUNIORS

The Junior class was made up of seventy-six alert, industrious students who strived to make their class known as one of the most successful as well as the largest in A. H. S. history. The class colors, black and white, were carried out in the class sweaters purchased early in the year. Mrs. Katie C. Slone was the Juniors' faculty advisor during this busy year, and each Junior feels that he owes quite a bit of his success to her. The class officers and Student Council members were selected at the first of the year to serve the class in executive functions. Four of the Juniors were elected to the National Honor Society at the close of the school year.

During the year the Juniors worked very hard to get enough money to finance their activities. Previous to the opening of the basketball season they purchased a pop corn machine and treated the fans at the games to "nice, fresh, hot pop corn". Eskimo pies and "drum sticks" were also sold by the Juniors at the games. Their efforts were successful, for in spite of present economic conditions, they made enough profit to entertain the Seniors at a lovely reception in the gym on May 20.

The Junior play, "Digging up the Dirt", was given on March 29 before a packed house. The play centered around the efforts of two boys to disguise themselves as Indians after an encounter with a skunk had ruined their only clothes, and the arrival of their "girl friends" further complicated things. Freddie Fuller, Howard Slone, Cletis Redding, Wilfred Meyer, Crystal Thomas, Mary Skehan, Doris Hurst, Jennie Goodwin, Jane Laidle, Irvin Harman, and Charles Roach made up the cast.

The Juniors have been conspicuous in sports, too. In the boys' inter-class tourney they defeated the Seniors in the finals, thus winning the coveted trophy cup. Juniors were valuable members of the track and baseball teams and the girls' basketball team. In the inter-class field day the Juniors carried off several awards in all divisions of the meet.

SOPHOMORES

The Sophomore class, with its eighty-five members, found the year of 1931-32 an uneventful one, marked by only a few outstanding happenings. The Sophomores elected their class officers and student council members at the first of the school year after spirited elections. Mr. R. F. Daly was chosen as their faculty advisor, and has served in this capacity for the entire year.

The Sophs were fond of social events, as they had more parties during the year than any other of the classes. A wiener roast and hike during October proved to be quite a success, although some of the Sophomores dreamed of cold feet and didn't go because of the chilly weather.

In the sports of A. H. S. the Sophomores were "right there with the goods". The veterans of last year's champion Freshman basketball team showed that vacation improved their speed and playing ability, as several of them got on the first and second squads. The Sophomores found the Seniors too experienced for them in the inter-class tourney, but in the consolation game the Freshmen fell before the Sophs' superior playing. In track and baseball Sophomores were prominent and they showed that they are rivals to be feared.

FRESHMEN

The students and teachers of A. H. S., and especially the teachers, were astonished to see so many new members added to the Alexandria High School in 1931. There was some doubt as to how and what this new addition of students would change the school, but after a year of contact with the Freshies the upperclassmen are confident that these yearlings have proved to be a valuable and worthy addition to the student body.

The Freshmen were socially-inclined this year, so they had several parties. The first one was during the last of October, when they were entertained with a Hallowe'en frolic in the gymnasium. Another party was at Christmas time, when the Freshies entertained in the Kappa rooms, with Mr. Ihne in charge.

These Freshmen seem to have quite a lot of confidence in themselves, probably inspired by their victory over the Sophomores in the tug of war at the first of the year, when the Sophs were treated to a wet time in the creek. In the inter-class basketball tourney the Juniors proved too powerful for the representatives of the Freshmen, but these Frosh have the making of a fine team, so they issue this warning: "Beware, for we have three more years in which to win the coveted trophy cup."
