

Front row: Left to right: Charlotte Ervin, John Smyth, Robert Zaring, Allen Mills, Junior Kivett, Enola McCormick, Elizabeth Moore, Gertrude Thomas, Bessie Ferguson.

Second row: Miss Stevens, Bill Griffin, Phyllis Zenor, Bruce Priest, Charles Kennedy, Eugene Schoolcraft, Alberta Payton, Bob Dale, Kenneth Watson, Martha Tackitt, Forest Abrell, Margaret Youngen, Phyllis Hendrix, Imogene Hicks, Mary M. Schoonover, Theda Fletcher, Jeanadelle Russell.

Publishers

The annual staff was chosen early in the year by Miss Hannah Stevens, head of the English department, with the assistance of the editor-in-chief. Since that time, the senior class has been very busy selling and preparing the annual for press and final distribution. There has been a continuous flurry and scurry of writing-up the different departments, of the school, seeing that everyone had his head someplace in some picture in the annual, cutting, pasting, measuring, typing, all of which goes to make up the annual. All of this seems to be fun to the staff, for it has worked ungrudgingly, overtime in high spirits and with inexorable faith that not even the greatest obstacle could overcome.

Some on the staff have prepared the will and prophecy, others worked on the departments of the school, while all worked together at anything that was necessary. Worth mentioning are the hand lettering and art designs by John Smyth.

Cub Reporters

As for several years past the students of the journalism class, under the instruction of Miss Hannah Stevens, converted themselves into a newspaper staff so that they might undertake the responsibility of publishing the high school paper, The Artesian Herald, which is published every two weeks.

A staff was chosen by the journalism class from its members, and it was through intensive and unceasing effort that each issue was received with acclaim by the student body. The issue which probably gave the most laughs to the staff as well as the student body was the annual "yellow issue" which presented news stories and editorials in a highly colorful manner.

Much credit is due Beulah Davis, whose efforts in the advertising line made the paper possible; Allen Mills, who served as proof-reader; and Forrest Abrell and Phyllis Hendrix, who edited the paper.

Front row: Left to right: Charles Kennedy, Enola McCormick, Beulah Davis, Forest Abrell, Phyllis Hendrix, Allen Mills, Gene Trowbridge, Ruth Harris.

Second row: Ervin McFarland, Miss Stevens, Bill Griffin, Hubert McKee, Conrad Self, Junior Kivett, Melvin Forbes, Louise Burleigh, Gertrude Thomas, Imogene Hicks, Evelyn Johnson, Elizabeth Moore.

*Jane Schoonover
"33"*

Front row: Left to right: Joy Smith, Genevieve Piercefield, Joan Northern, Maxine Cooksey, Genevieve Ratts, Mary Elizabeth Hendricks, Laura Fay Cunningham, Nancy Ann Finney, Betty Sims.

Second row: Mary M. Schoonover, Marjorie Lingle, Laura F. Tousey, Marguerite Martin, Virginia Cox, Nelda Cohn, Pauline Percy, Ellene Cunningham, Kathleen Collier, Doris Hubbard, Lucille Hickman, Elizabeth Bailey.

Third row: Allene Lighter, Glenna Musgrave, Helen Granholt, Glendine Youngen, Maxine Norman, Geneva Cox, Evelyn Johnson, Betty Rankin, Jane Schoonover, Mrs. Hochstetler.

Fourth row: Maxine Koons, Marjorie Moss, Juanita Payton, Irene Myers, Dorothy Kent, Emilee Brasler, Mary Francesconi, Gertrude Thomas, Dorothy Ennis, Zona Cooksey.

Fifth row: Bessie Ferguson, La Von Salter, Betty Hardwick, Mary E. Scott, Pauline Piercefield, Maxine Johnston, Opal Neal, Juanita Goss.

*Glenna Musgrave
"candy girl"
"33"*

Prize Winners

The girls' 4-H Club is the Home Economics Club in M. H. S. There are five divisions of 4-H Club work. Junior Leaders during the past year were Martha and Julia Goss, Mary Margaret Schoonover, Dorothy Ennis, Joy Smith, Gertrude Thomas, Zona Cooksey, and Caroline Wafford.

The club won more than one hundred county placings and a score of State Fair prizes during the past season. Zona Cooksey was awarded a trip to the state leadership camp, and Dorothy Ennis and Zona Cooksey were the State Fair school trip winners for 1933. Mary Margaret Schoonover's achievement won for her a state trip to the International 4-H Club Congress in December 1933.

Three of the members of the club received Purdue Round-Up trips this year. They were Mary and Jane Schoonover, and Evelyn Johnston.

Mrs. W. G. Hochstetler is 4-H Club sponsor.

Cooks and Cooking

The M. H. S. cafeteria is a popular and cheerful place in which to eat, being decorated in tones of brown and tan. Good food and varied menus are its boast.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Hochstetler, assisted by Mrs. Ennis and Mrs. Bothwell delicious hot lunches are prepared. The cafeteria class also plays a large part in the serving and preparation of the food. This class is organized each semester and is made up of six girls who wish to make extra credits in this way as well as receiving valuable experience. The girls' duties are assigned for a certain length of time, at the end of which they exchange duties so as to receive training in more than one branch of the work.

The pride of the cafeteria is its ability to be run on a non-profit basis, and yet to meet all of its expenses. Another branch of the cafeteria is the candy counter.

Row one: Left to right: Iola Dilley, Maxine Koons, Zella Wininger, Lucille Daily, Geneva Hughes.

Second row: Bessie Ferguson, Allene Lighter, Gladys Gray, Pauline Parker, Zoe Louise Kirk.

Third row: Mrs. Bothwell, Mrs. Ennis, Mrs. Hochstetler, Glenna Musgrave.

Jimmy Huff

First row: Left to right: Shireman Wampler, Miles Hull, Bob Martin, Ralph Powell, Robert Terhune, Randolph Sprunger.

Second row: Don Anderson, Mr. Spaulding, Francis Shane, Bob Goss, Irvin McFarland, Courtland James, Byron Wilson, Laura F. Tousey, Chester Secrest.

Third row: James Huff, Doris Hubbard, Eleanor Gray, Mary Flora Wilson, Forest Marshall.

Fourth row: Ralph Meredith, Gene Hadley, Billy Cure, Wallace Kelley, Charles Minton, Maxine Cooksey.

Fifth row: Eugene Fowler, James Griffin, Junior Kivett, Billy Shane, Hugh Williams.

Boom, Boom

The band, with Mr. Spaulding as director, is one of the organizations of which M. H. S. should be proud. They have added a great deal to the assembly programs and at the basketball games their music has done much to increase the enthusiasm and pep.

At various times when Mr. Spaulding was unable to be present, the band was directed by Wallace Kelly. On these occasions, Wallace showed he was fully capable of directing, and the members showed they were capable of following his directions, as well as Mr. Spaulding's.

A picture, "The Lucky Devil," was sponsored by the band, the proceeds being used for new music. They have also given two concerts, one last fall and one in May.

Besides playing for our home games, they also furnished music at Bloomington and Greencastle when our team played there.

One of the school organizations which has tried to lend a helping hand in making many school, town, club, and lodge programs a success during the past year, was the German Band under the direction of Mr. Vernon Spaulding.

The organization was made up of five musicians: Irvin McFarland, first clarinet; Robert Goss, second clarinet; Chester Secrest, bass; Wallace Kelley, trumpet; and Francis Shane, trombone.

As the name signifies this group of boys played German pieces. They have played before many local organizations such as: The Lions' Club, The Presbyterian Men's Club, The Agriculture Club, a joint social gathering of men and women at the Christian Church, the Odd Fellows, and the Jefferson Club.

In addition to the above programs, this band planned and presented an assembly program.

Left to right: Bob Goss, Wallace Kelley, Francis Shane, Chester Secrest, Irvin McFarland.

Oh, Heinie

Soprano and Alto

A well known organization of the senior high school is the Girls' Glee Club which is made up of thirty of the best voices of the school. The officers are:

Elizabeth Moore—president.
Enola McCormick—vice-president.
Katheleen Collier—secretary-treasurer.
Martha Tackitt—librarian.

Last year the club entered the contest sponsored by the Federation of Music Clubs held in April at the Hotel Severin and placed second. This year they are entering again and sending a well trained group to compete in this annual contest.

The glee club has taken part in several community programs and with the help of the Boys' Glee Club gave the operetta, "Don Alonzo's Treasure."

Among the social events of the season were the Rag-a-muffin Party, given by the club for the Junior High Chorus in February, and "Joy Night."

Front row: Left to right: Wallace Kelly, Charles Champlin, Joe Goss, Bob Rusie, Luther Curtis, Rawlins Tousey, Eugene Swope.

Second row: Genevieve Baker, pianist, Mrs. Kelso, Phil Powell, Courtland James, Bob Goss, Conrad Asher, Spencer Kauffman, Jay Martin, Bob Gardner.

Third row: Marvin Hine, James Griffin, Robert Zaring, Miles Hull, Junior Kivett, Fred Griffith, Leonard Fogleman.

Fourth row: Bob Richardson, Horace Willan, Charles Kennedy, Jack Johnston, Basil Johnson, Eugene Popino.

Fifth row: Warren Franklin, Randolph Sprunger, Loran Scott, Francis Shane.

Front row: Left to right: Genevieve Baker, Virginia Bryan, Allene Lighter, Geneva Carmichael, Mary M. Schoonover, LaVon Salters, Laura F. Tousey.

Second row: Mrs. Kelso, Elizabeth Moore, Enola McCormick, Kathleen Collier, Eileen Cunningham, Isabelle Baugh, Maxine Johnston.

Third row: Carola Scheidler, Jane Schoonover, Mary E. Scott, Nelda Cohn, Dorothy Grizzle, Zella Wininger.

Fourth row: Genevieve Ratts, Virginia Whitaker, Martha Tackitt, Jean Goss, Bernadine Shuler, Gertrude Thomas.

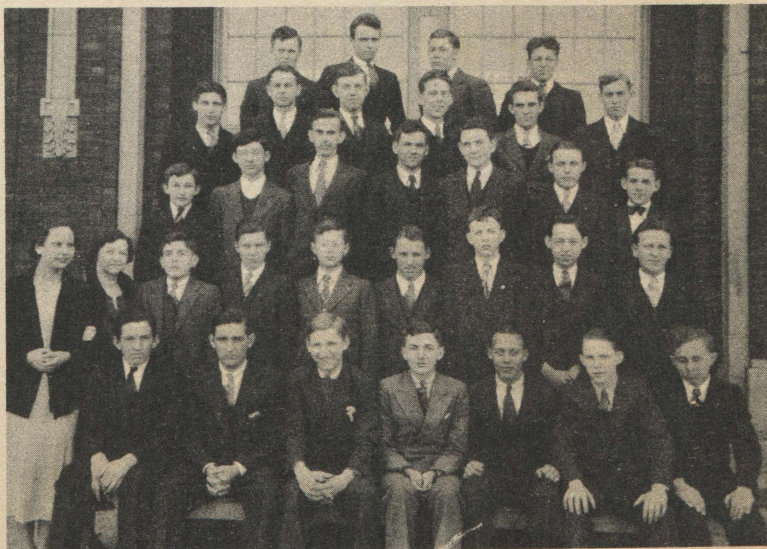

Tenor and Bass

The Boys' Glee Club of the year of 1933-34 is very promising with thirty-one members. The glee club entered last year in the state contest held at the Severin Hotel at Indianapolis and won first place in the event. They are entering another contest this year and expecting another high honor.

The members of the glee club entertained not only the high school at various times, but also other organizations of the city. They entertain themselves and friends every year by sponsoring a "Joy Night."

The boys' and girls' glee clubs combined participate every year in an operetta to make money for entry fees for contests and to demonstrate their ability as vocalists to the public.

Robert Gardner—president.
Fred Griffith—vice-president.
Phil Powell—secretary.

Front row: Left to right: Isabelle Baugh, Imogene Hicks, Mrs. Kelso, Elizabeth Moore, Jean Goss, Kathleen Walsh, Mary M. Schoonover, Jane Schoonover, Stewart Cohn, Doovid Barskin, Bob Terhune, Ralph Powell.

Second row: Genevieve Baker, Frances Williamson, Nelda Cohn, Louise Downey, Dorothy Underwood, Betty James, Virginia Brown, Jeanadelle Russell, Eugene Fowler, Chester Se-crest.

Third row: Don Anderson, Charles Cure, Eugene Carroll, Marvin Hine, Bobby Martin, Richard McDaniel, Herman England.

Fourth row: Mary C. Avery, Miles Hull, Bob Goss, Courtland James, Wallace Kelly, Laura F. Tousey, Francis Shane, Eugene Hadley.

Wind and Strings

The High School Orchestra, directed by Mrs. Kelso, is made up of thirty-six members with Miles Hull as president, Robert Terhune, vice-president, Nelda Cohn, secretary-treasurer, and Wallace Kelly, librarian.

Last year the orchestra entered the district contest at Terre Haute and placed first. At the state contest held in La-Porte they placed second. They have as good an orchestra as that of last year and they expect to do as well, if not better than last year's group.

The orchestra furnished music for all dramatic entertainments and gave a concert at general assembly in April. A new feature introduced at this program were the student directors, Elizabeth Moore and Francis Shane. Besides having soloists who place high in state contests, the orchestra had exceptionally well trained students in different sections, such as the violin, brass, and cello sections.

Don Alonzo's Treasure

"Don Alonzo's Treasure" was presented in the auditorium December 14.

The cast was:

Don Diego, a Spanish nobleman—Robert Zaring.

Suzana, his wife—Gertrude Thomas.

Dolores, their older daughter—Carola Scheidler.

Lolita, their younger daughter—Nelda Cohn.

Ajax Wallop, an American millionaire—Charles Kennedy.

Mrs. Wallop, his wife—Jean Goss.

Elain, their daughter — Elizabeth Moore.

Billy McNoodle, the hero—Robert Gardner.

Slim, a sailor gob—Randolph Sprunger.

Shorty, his pal—Robert Richardson.

Manuel, a servant of Diego—Junior Kivett.

Paula, a maid-servant—Enola McCormick.

Left to right: Robert Gardner, Elizabeth Moore, Charles Kennedy, Jean Goss, Robert Zaring, Randolph Sprunger, Carola Scheidler, Robert Richardson, Nelda Cohn, Junior Kivett, Enola McCormick.

Front row: Left to right: Miss Kivett, Phyllis Zenor, Phyllis Hendrix, Margaret Youngen, Forest Abrell, Robert Rusie, Lane Winter, Mark Myers.

Second row: John D. Johnston, Floy Hodges, Genevieve Ratts, Leone Sykes, Kathleen Collier, Rawlins Tousey, Albert Allen, Horace Willan, Joan Cravens, Charles Kennedy.

Third row: Billy Alexander, Elizabeth Moore, Bob Dale, Kenneth Watson, Merrill Percy, Marie Bothwell, Eunice Hodges, Eugene Swope.

Mark Myers

Populi Romani

The Latin Club was organized November 7, 1933. In former years anyone who was taking Latin or had already taken three years of Latin was eligible. This enabled many seniors who were not taking Latin in their last year, but who had already taken three years of Latin, to belong to the club. This year, however, a new policy was started. Only those students taking Latin during the current year were eligible to belong to the club.

At the first meeting of the club a committee of four members, one from each class, submitted a report of officers to the club. The report was voted on and accepted. The constitution was read and discussed for the benefit of those who were new in the club. It was agreed to have the first night meeting on November 16 and to initiate the freshmen at this time.

Miss Hart and Miss Kivett are sponsors this year.

The club has been organized the last two years on a somewhat unique plan. Since this plan had been tried in some of the larger schools and had proved successful, it was decided to try it in our club. Under this plan, the members are divided into three classes as the ancient Romans were. Those students who have had at least three years of Latin are the Patricians, or the upper class; those taking their second year are called Equites, or the middle class. The first year students are the Plebian, or the lower class. The officers, too, correspond to the officers of the Roman republic, the most important ones being chosen from the upper classes. The consuls preside at the meetings and in case one of the consuls is absent, the praetor presides. The scribe keeps the minutes of the meetings.

This plan has proved so interesting and

Front row: Left to right: Marvin Hine, Dale Morey, Parnell Baker, Bob Richardson, Tom Dillon, Bob Gardner, Wayne Hamilton, Luther Gray.

Second row: Elizabeth Bailey, Doris Wright, Pearl Smith, Bonnie Tackitt, Eileen West, Gladys Gray, Dorothy Newborn, Evelyn Ratcliff, Marguerite Martin, Vivian Phelps.

Third row: Norma Ennis, Eileen Cunningham, Tom Cravens, Larry Terhune, Allan Willan, Josephine Jones, Virginia Cox, Mildred Atkinson, Laura F. Tousey.

Fourth row: Louise Tumey, Opal Lemons, Shireman Wampler, Isabelle Baugh, Alberta Payton, Surrelda Jones, Ruth Roland.

Fifth row: Courtland James, Richard McDaniel, Gene Goss, Bob Goss, Carola Scheidler, Dorothy Grizzle, George Isenhower, Phil Powell.

Livienne Garrison

Front row: Left to right: Wayne Coffin, Eugene Jenkins, Joe Sadler, Billy James, Eugene Hadley, Teddy Fletcher, Noylles James, Paul Gray, Rex Fleener.

Row two: Violet Hodges, Mildred Anderson, Ruth Richardson, Betty Hardwick, Louise Buis, Maxine Johnston, La Von Salters, Vivian Garrison, Marie Ratts, Lucy Dunn, Frances Gray.

Row three: Josephine Mosier, Evelyn Oburn, Pauline Percy, Mamie Messmer, Mary Catherine Kirk, Mildred Hine, Betty Sandy, Dorothy Applegate, Helen Schoolcraft.

Row four: Pauline Robinson, Lavonne McDaniel, Amanda Droke, Georganna Shuffelbarger, Eugene Jordan, John Walters, Nelda Cohn, Pauline Piercefield.

Row five: Bob Martin, Byron Sykes, Maurice Canatsey, Hugh Williams, Jimmy Huff, Billy Pitkin, Charles McFarland, Herman England.

successful for the past two years, that it will probably be continued.

At the first meeting of the club, the freshmen had charge of the program, after which they were duly initiated by the upper classmen.

The second meeting was in charge of the second year students. The program was very interesting and consisted of vocal, violin, and piano numbers, and a play. The play, "Off with His Head," was both amusing and instructive.

The outstanding event of the year was the Roman banquet which was held in April. The banquet was held in true Roman style. The guests reclined on couches and only those foods which were known to the ancient Romans were served. The Plebians were not permitted to attend. The Patricians were the guests and were served by the Equites.

The banquet was a great success and will no doubt be an annual event of the club.

Hi-Y

The Hi-Y Club, an activity which aims to extend influence for a high type of personal conduct among the students, was organized this year only after it was found that the parents of all of last year's members desired it.

The club held its regular meetings every two weeks at the buffer period. At these meetings the life problems of boys and the activities of the club were considered.

Special meetings were held in the old gym for the introduction of new members and social programs.

The principal function of the year's program was the Father and Boy Friend Banquet which was held the second week in April.

The officers of the club were: Conrad Asher, president; Irvin McFarland, vice-president; Dan Wooden, secretary; John Hinson, treasurer; Kenneth Watson, sergeant-at-arms, and their sponsor was Mr. Moore, math teacher.

Front row: Left to right: Joe Goss, John Hinson, Conrad Asher, Irvin McFarland, Robert Rusie, Fred Griffith.

Second row: Mr. Moore, John Smyth, Paul Hacker, Albert Allen, Loran McKinley, Jay Martin, Stanley Poleckna, Bob Goss, Junior Kivett.

Third row: Harry Terhune, Stephen Fleener, Robert Dale, Kenneth Watson, Herman Thacker, Marvin Maxwell.

Fourth row: Herschel Shireman, Parnell Baker, Horace Willan, Carl Brown, Raymond Collier, Drue Goss, Herman Koons.