The activities of the class of 1941 the past year have been few, but each one has been a notable success. The graduating class is happy to turn over the affairs of the school to the class of '41.

The Juniors held their election at the beginning of the year under the supervision of the Senior citizenship classes. The student committee formulated the rules for the election, the first closely guarded, systematically supervised general class election in many years. The class chose as president John St. John; vice-president, Junior Savage; secretary, Barbara Sandy; treasurer, Betty Pearcy. This was an important job, since she must handle close to $300.

On Friday, November 3, 1939, the class threw their party of the year. It was built on the line of a "kid" party, and was a great success. We will leave it to next year's seniors to describe the party more in detail. Let it suffice here to say that it was highly successful.

On January 31, 1940, the class gave the annual Junior class play, "Spring Fever", a comedy. The cast was as follows: James Crook, Jim Bruce, Junior Savage, Eloise Greer, Harriet DeTurk, Ruth Shane, Juanita Clark, Paul Bolt, Phyllis Anderson, Harold Baldwin, John St. John, and Ruth H. Goss. The play netted about $150.

On March 13, 1940, the class held a meeting, and decided to engage "Chuck" Smith's orchestra for the Junior-Senior Prom. A few days later he was under contract.

On May 10, 1940, the class gave its Prom, the outstanding social event of the year.

The second play which they put on was "Yes and No" which concerns a business man. The sophomores taking part were: Robert Calvin, Victor Hammons, Joann Woolsey, Jack Woolsey, Donald Beck.

The third play which was given by this class was a Christmas play. It was about a little boy who gave all that he had as an offering for the Christ child. Many other rich people gave their jewels and riches but their gifts were not a sacrifice like the little boy's gift was and thus the chimes in the Tower of the Church rang for him. The sophomores taking part were: Bob Rund, Orajean Hickman, Betty May, Bob Hendrix, Wade Stewart, Lucille Brewer, Billy Martin, Barbara Anne Burns, Junior Cooksey.

The sophomores have all during the years of 1939-1940 designed stages for different books on which they have been reading during the year.
