The 1920-21 basketball season for Fountain City High School boys had fifteen scheduled games beginning on November 5, with a game at Hagerstown, and ending on February 26, with a game at Fountain City's Knights' of Pythias Lodge Hall, against Spartanburg. After the regular season the team entered the district high school tournament played in the Richmond Coliseum and was defeated by Centerville 15-12. A Palladium reporter said of the team's effort: "The much smaller Fountain City team put up a great fight but their light weight proved too much of a handicap. Robert Huff was the bright light of the game playing good defense and being the backbone of the team." Others playing on that squad were Arnold Thomas, Chester Miller, George Evans, and Roy Miller.
